

PROMIENT JAPANESE OF HAWAII

MR. K. TSUCHIYA

Mr. K. Tsuchiya, chief secretary of the Japanese Consulate General in Honolulu, is a native of the Prefecture of Fukuoka, Japan, where he was born in 1868. He is a graduate of the class of '89 of the Keio University. He was subsequently consular with the Department of Commerce and Agriculture, holding his clerical position for three years. Resigning that position, Mr. Tsuchiya became assistant secretary of the Department of Foreign Affairs. In 1894, Mr. Tsuchiya went to Chemulpo, Korea, as secretary of the Japanese Consulate General there. He served as Acting Consul at Chinsampo and Kusan, Korea, for two years. He was then assigned again to the Japanese Consulate General at Shanghai, China, as its chief secretary.

During the Boxer rioting and the Russo-Japan war Mr. Tsuchiya was present and went through the whole trouble. In 1905 Mr. Tsuchiya came to Honolulu as chief secretary of the Japanese Consulate General. He is very popular with the localities, not only Japanese but also foreigners and the old residents.

MR. M. KOMEYA

Mr. M. Komeya, proprietor of the Komeya Hotel, is one of the best-known Japanese hotel men in the Islands. He came here 21 years ago and worked his way up gradually, winning a prominent place in the Japanese community. Two years ago, in February, 1906, Mr. Komeya was appointed sub-postmaster for No. 1 Postoffice Station on River street near Pauahi. He is situated in the Komeya Hotel. The appointment was made by Mr. Pratt of the Honolulu postoffice.

When Mr. Komeya arrived from Japan he located at Pahi, Maui, for three years, after which he lived on Hawaii. Leaving there, he came to Heela, subsequently coming to Honolulu and residing on Smith street, where he opened a store. In 1896, Mr. Komeya started a hotel, running it until it was burned down by the plague fire. One year later he rebuilt and reopened his hotel at the junction of River and Pauahi streets, where he is successfully conducting it. On June 6, 1907, Mr. Komeya went to Japan on a pleasure trip, returning to Hawaii on April 7, 1908. Mr. Komeya is popular among the Japanese.

MADAME ARRAL

Madame Blanche Arral sang at the Orpheum last night between the second and third acts of the drama "Silver King" and met with a tremendous ovation. The vocal selections were popular and well understood, opening with Polacca from Mignon, and following with "Violetta" and a Spanish song, "Veritable Manola," which is of Spanish origin, and very catchy. The gem of the evening, which brought tears to the eyes of those in the audience, and the large company of actors assembled in the wings, was that old familiar "Home, Sweet Home." Adeline Patti in her palmy days could not have sung the song any better or with more effect. At its close the artists had to respond to several curtain calls and listen to a genuine outburst of enthusiasm seldom heard in a play house. Madame Arral will be heard again next Tuesday evening during the performance of "Why Smith Left Home."

PUPUEKA LAND

tionate amount of the best land doled out to each man.

"Enough land will be put up at auction each time a sale is held to prevent there being any bidding of the prices up to exorbitant figures. If a man is unable to get the land that is his first choice there will be left for him other tracts that will probably fit in with his purpose, whether it be to grow pineapples or to start the typical small farm. Speaking of small farms, the other tract of land that will be put up for sale under the new agreement will be exactly suited for the purpose. Just this side of Waianae there are six or eight lots of 50 acres each which will be sold. The land is low-lying, sandy, and, to some extent, coral, but is well suited for the man who would wish to spread out his efforts in the cultivation of a number of things. Algodora grows well there and this for firewood has been proven a successful venture. Then there is bee-culture to be taken into consideration, and it is no small item.

"The Kaneche lands are also being negotiated for by the Government, and if these are obtained they will be put up at auction sale also. I am satisfied that the new agreements will prove decidedly beneficial towards the sale of land to the genuine homesteader."

NICK ELUDES

ENTIRE FORCE

Nick Peterson, the well-known huckman, has gone into hiding and has so far eluded all the efforts of the entire police force to find him. Nick was arrested Tuesday evening for drunkenness. He put up $6 bail, and the next morning he failed to appear in the Police Court, and Judge Andrade issued a bench warrant for his arrest. Since then the police have been hunting for him, but in vain, and this morning when the case was called, Clerk Weed sadly answered: "Non est."

Judge Andrade from the bench expressed his great surprise that the police should have been unable to find so well-known a person as Nick. Prosecutor Brown nobly came to the defense of his friend laukae, stating that it was a habit of Nick's to go into seclusion when on a spree. Every man on every watch of the force had been instructed to take Nick into custody. Even the hack-drivers had been looking for Nick, and when they couldn't find him, the police can hardly be blamed. The explanation evidently did not quite satisfy the Court, which stated that it was pretty sure that Nick could be found among the gin palaces of Chinatown.

FINE PLACE FOR FLEET

BOXING IS ARRANGED

Ring, bleachers, and a stand for tug-of-war contests are about complete in the Fish Market, where the boxing, wrestling, and tug-of-war which is in charge of the Fleet Committee is to be held. Chairman A. L. C. Atkinson, of the committee, was down this morning looking things over, together with Paddy Ryan, the chairman of the sub-committee, in charge.

Ryan has done himself proud, and no mistake, as he has arranged one of the most attractive places of the kind which has ever been seen in this city. The ring is regulation size, and his rows of seats rising tier on tier on either side, while a third side of the ring is taken up with a long platform on which the tug-of-war teams are to try conclusions.

The place is certainly very nicely arranged, and should prove one of the most popular of all the places of amusement while the fleet is here.

There is to be something doing every evening there.

The place will probably be permanent.

Farmer (angrily): Say, who, gave you permission to fish in this pond?

Ennepek: Why, my wife, of course.

What a silly question!
